CUSTOM MANUFACTURING SOFTWARE SPECIALISTS

Whether you are looking to maximize your current system or evaluate the merits of installing a new one, Vrakas/Blum Computer Consulting, Inc. is here to help. Our talented team offers customizable services designed to meet your specific needs.

Why Vrakas/Blum?

Vrakas/Blum Computer Consulting, Inc.'s professionals share a genuine commitment to improving clients' businesses. Defined by technical expertise, professionalism and a down-to-earth approach to serving client needs, our team members are the reason we stand out from our competition.

We have extensive experience in the development, implementation, training and support for manufacturing, distribution and accounting software solutions. In addition, we are nationally recognized resellers of MAS and JobOps, providing comprehensive computer consulting services to clients across the U.S.

Our clients would tell you that when you choose to work with Vrakas/Blum Computer Consulting, Inc., you will find an approachable and reliable group focused on helping you meet your goals.

Our services include:

Business Process and Systems Analysis

The first step in selecting and implementing the right solutions to maximize your computer software and hardware systems is to establish measurable objectives. We begin by carefully analyzing your current processes and their related support systems. By gaining an understanding of the strengths and deficiencies of your system, we are able to provide enhanced system recommendations to meet or exceed your automation goals.

Software and Hardware Selection

Once the decision is made to implement a new system or enhance an existing one, we help to determine the best solutions based on your needs. We are authorized in several software products and maintain close relationships with firms who offer individually tailored products and services.

When selecting your system, we will consider all of your objectives in our evaluation, ensuring that our recommended products:

- Match your requirements in terms of features and capabilities
- Allow for easy implementation and operation
- Provide a path for the future
- Meet your budget

Customized Training

Training investments are critical to maximizing the value of your system. To make sure your organization receives adequate and thorough instruction, we take you through several phases of training.

Upon installation, we train you and your staff on the correct usage of routine system features so you are proficient from the start. Once you are comfortable with your setup, we dedicate time and resources to educate you and your staff on the advanced capabilities of your system. As your processes change, we will regularly meet with you to evaluate and determine necessary system modifications to satisfy future needs.

Most of our training is performed on site at your facility using a copy of your company data. We also provide remote training if desired.

Experienced Team of Consultants

Vrakas/Blum Computer Consulting, Inc. consists of carefully selected professionals who are exceptionally talented and enjoyable to work with. Dedicated to providing you with the latest, most effective business management systems for your situation, each team member has hands-on experience providing specialized solutions directly to manufacturing and distribution companies, particularly MAS and JobOps systems.
